BUMPS

- AUTO BUMP- A player that places “in the money” 3 TIMES in a season at a regional or major IN THE A BRACKET will be auto-bumped. This may be singles or doubles or any combination of both. (THE BUMP WILL TRUMP THE PPR RANGE SET IN OCA.)

- SELF BUMP- AT TIMES OCA RECOGNIZES PLAYERS WHO ARE HIGHLY SKILLED IN THEIR CURRENT DIVISION. WE MAY REACH OUT TO DISCUSS A SELF BUMP. OCA WORKS HARD TO GET ALL PLAYERS WHERE THEY NEED TO BE. THE PLAYER DOES NOT HAVE TO ACCEPT A SELF BUMP. ONCE THE PLAYER MOVES UP, THEY MUST PLAY IN AT LEAST 2 MORE TOURNAMENTS AND FINISH 0-2 BEFORE A PETITION TO DROP CAN BE SUBMITTED TO RULES AND REGULATIONS COMMITTEE AND DIRECTORS.
- PETITION TO DROP- must be submitted and approved one month prior to a regional or major. OCA TEAM AND RULES AND REG COMMITTEE WILL NEED TO BE INFORMED AND APPROVE.

RULES AND REGULATION COMMITTEE

OCA Rules and Regulations Committee and Director/ Co-Director will monitor all players on their club's roster. RR Committee will be looking for:

- re-created profiles (NEW) profiles in Scoreholio as well as players ppr ranges.
- Drastic swings in SPR drops etc.
- Movement of PPR ranges
- Bumps-

Sandbagging kills the spirit of new throwers who might have otherwise loved the game. We stand to lose players in the lower divisions if sandbagging occurs. We will always encourage self-bumps to players who are outplaying their competition consistently. PPR ranges should help the sandbagging situation. OCA will use the 120-day average ppr range with 75% of games within the last 30 days tracked. Otherwise, the player will need to play at or above the OCA ranking or at level the regional director approves.

SCOREMAGIC

Scoremagic is 100% required at ALL OCA events. <https://scoreholio.com/scoremagic/>
An average PPR must meet the following criteria: 75% of games must be bag tracked within the last 30 days for OCA to use PPR. Otherwise the player will play up in the next highest division or play at current OCA ranking.

PPR RANGES

*Disclaimer- OCA reserves the right to adjust (PPR) ranges after season has begun using data from regionals and majors.

BACKYARD	5.8 & BELOW
INTERMEDIATE	5.81-6.90
COMPETITIVE	6.91-7.80
ADVANCED	7.81-8.59
ELITE	8.6-UP

- PPR RANGES WILL DETERMINE THE DIVISION THE PLAYER IS ELIGIBLE TO PARTICIPATE AT EACH REGIONAL AND MAJOR ONCE THE PLAYER HAS 75% OF GAMES WITHIN THE LAST 30 DAYS TRACKED. *OCA USES THE 120 DAY AVERAGE PPR RANGE.
- PLAYERS WHO DO NOT MEET THE PPR REQUIREMENTS WILL PLAY IN THE DIVISION OCA HAS SET FOR THE PLAYER.

PLAYER SKILL LEVEL

OCA uses a 120 average (PPR) range. 75% of games within the last 30 days must be tracked using Scoremagic.

Elite (E) - The player averages 8.6 - UP (PPR) Elite is considered any player that has been a pro in the previous 3 years or competes as a pro in any other organized cornhole organization. Elite exception can be made based on injury or extended illness only.

Advanced (A)- This player will compete against anyone. The player can execute a slide bag, block bag, flop, roll, cut, and airmail when called for in a game. The player will step out using the entire box to throw around a block bag. The player understands game strategy and likely plays and practices on a regular basis. The player averages 7.81-8.59 (PPR).

Competitive (C)- The player can execute a slide bag, block bag, and airmail but may struggle with consistency. The player understands the strategy of the game. The player may dominate another player one game and then struggle in the next. The player is concerned with playing competitors that are better than them in order to increase their skill. The player seeks every opportunity to play and advance their game. The “C” players may be divided into a “high C+” category and “low C” category. The high C+ player may try to play at an advanced level to try and increase their skill. The low C player should play in competitive events. The player averages 6.91-7.80 (PPR).

Intermediate (I)- The player attempts a slide bag, block bag, and airmail but cannot completely use the skill when needed in a challenge or game. The player may be consistent using 1 or 2 of the skills but not all 3. The player is starting to develop some consistency with skills such as the block, slide, and airmail. The player has a basic understanding of game strategy but has not mastered the different skills. The “I” players may be divided into a “high I+” category and “low I” category. The high I+ player may try to play at a competitive level to try and increase their skill. The low I player should play in intermediate events. The player averages 5.81-6.90 (PPR).

Backyard (B) - The player can make all 4 bags on the board or occasionally throw 1 bag in the hole. The player will at times throw a bag or two off the board with a lot of inconsistency. The player struggles to use skills and is mostly trying to get the bags on the board. The “B” players may be divided into a “high B+” category and “low B” category. The high B+ player may try to play at an intermediate level to try and increase their skill. The player averages 5.8 & below (PPR).

BAG POLICY

PLAYERS MAY PLAY WITH REGULATION BAGS THAT WEIGH 15.5 oz-16.25. PLAYERS WHO THROW WITH MANIPULATED BAGS SUCH AS ADDING ANY KIND OF GREASE OR ADDED FOREIGN SUBSTANCE FOR ENHANCEMENT OF PLAY WILL FORFEIT THE TOURNAMENT. HOMEMADE BAGS AND CORN BAGS ARE NOT ALLOWED. PLAYER HAS THE RIGHT TO INSPECT THE OPPONENT'S BAGS BEFORE MATCH HAS BEGUN. ALL BAG CHALLENGES MUST BE MADE BEFORE THE GAME BEGINS AND FIRST BAG IS THROWN. PLAYERS WITH MODIFIED BAGS RISK LOSING PRIZE MONEY PAYOUTS. BAGS THAT GET WET MAY BE SWITCHED OUT FOR AN ENTIRE NEW SET OF BAGS IF BOTH TEAMS/PLAYERS AGREE.

GAME RULES

Coin Flip/ Bag spin on board. Seam decides. -Singles-the winner gets to throw first or choose a side.

Coin Flip/ Bag spin on board. Seam decides. -Doubles- the winners get first bags and sides or match up.

In all two out of three matches, the team who wins the coin flip will choose sides and first bags or match up. The second game, the team that loses the coin flip will get sides and first bags or match up. Match up means the winners of the coin flip choose the players they want to throw bags against. The other team will get sides and first bags if this option is taken.

In singles games, the player who wins the coin flip will choose sides or first bags.

Cancellation ruling- points cancel, no bust rules.

Singles Events are one game in the winners and one game in the losers (cancellation ruling).

In the case of emergency time issues and the venue is going to close, the tournament director may either change the format to place time limits on games and matches and also switch the format to race to 15 (all points count) or continue with cancellation ruling but first team to 15 wins to speed up timing or move to the following day.

If a player throws out of turn, the bag is removed, and no points are counted. The opponent will throw 2 bags in a row.

Bracket finals- Best of 1 Format- if the team/ player from the loser's side wins the first game it forces another best of 1 with a new coin flip. If the team/player from the winning side wins the first game in the winner's final; the final is over, and the team/player wins the tournament.

If a foul bag has caused other bags to be moved or pushed in the hole, the foul bag will not count, and the bags will be moved to the original spot.

If a player cannot finish the game, the opponent gets an automatic win and the player forfeits. Player will get the rest of points to 21 for the win.

Time outs-During a singles game, each player is allowed two 90 sec. time outs. In a doubles game, each team is allowed two 45 sec. time outs. Any bags still in play, must be left on board and both players may walk to look at the board and bags or discuss strategy. At no point may the bags be touched or picked up during the timeout. If any bags are moved or touched and the offending team or person who touches the bags, forfeits all remaining bags left in hands. The non-offending team tallies an automatic 12 points no matter what is showing on the board to be canceled out against the opponent's points. To be clear, the 12 is canceled by any points the opponent has on the board.

Bag Sweep-Bags that are stacked under the hole may cause a bag to sit or hang inside the hole on top of the bags. A sweep by the director or another player may occur without disturbing or touching the hanging bag. If the bag does not fall after the sweep, the bag counts as 1 point. If it falls, the bag counts as 3 points.

After a round is thrown, typically the bags are touched 3 seconds after. If a bag is about to fall in the hole, the players will wait 3 seconds and then grab bags and count points.

Step-out-When pitching a bag, a player must have at least part of one foot inside the pitcher's box and not cross the foul line.

*Any bag removed from the board or touched before scoring has been agreed, the offending team who touches the bags forfeits all remaining bags left in hands are dead bags worth no points and tallies the score of just the bags thrown before the foul was reported. The non-offending team tallies an automatic 12 points no matter what is showing on the board to be canceled out against the opponent's points.

Foul:

Bag that hits the ground first does not count. If a bag is hanging off the board and is touching the ground, the bag does not count toward points.

A player that steps over the foul line before the bag is pitched is a toe foul. The bag cannot be counted as points. Make sure the toes are not crossing the front of the boards before the bag is pitched. Points are added in favor of the opponent and no points are awarded to the offender. The bag is removed from the board.

A step after the bag is thrown is highly controversial. It is a foul if the step is after the bag is pitched. The player will remain in his or her lane and will not step over into the opponent's lane. A warning is typically given before the rule becomes enforced as a courtesy to the player. If the issue is not fixed after the warning, the player will forfeit points made from the pitched bag and the opponent will earn points resulting in the bag thrown. Offending player's bag will be removed with no points scored for that round. An OCA official may be requested to supervise the match at a player's discretion.

A player must stay inside the pitcher's box to throw a bag or have one foot inside. The player must deliver bag within a 20 second time limit.

We want to keep the venue clean of trash and debris on the floor. We want our players to be honorable with their words and actions. Unfortunately, every single one of the things listed above has happened. We will NOT allow any of this to happen this season. We need everyone to pull together and help us spread the word regarding these rules, so everyone knows.

Thank you for being a part of the Oklahoma Cornhole Association (OCA) SEASON 23-24!
